"Over The Rainbow" the last of Tom's Saturday morning programs celebrates the music of the great Harold Arlen, who with lyricist Yip Harburg wrote the score of "The Wizard of Oz" including the song of the century. With Johnny Mercer, Arlen turned out one memorable song after another from "Blues in the Night" to "Accentuate the Positive" to "That Old Black Magic" to "One for My Baby" to "Come Rain and Come Shine." So come on down the Yellow Brick Road to hear these and many more terrific tunes sung by the great singers of the Great American Songbook. Your mama done told you.
